

BROOKLYN NEWS.

AT THE BROOKLYN THEATRES.

EXILED HER INSANE SISTER.

OLD AGE ELOPES WITH YOUTH.

FORTY-ONE NEW BLUECOATS.

Rosina Vokes at the Park Theatre Next Week.

"The Private Secretary" at the Columbia—Other Attractions.

Rosina Vokes and her company of English comedians will appear at Col. Sinn's Park Theatre next week in a repertoire of comedies. On Monday evening she will present for the first time in Brooklyn "The Paper Chase," a three-act farce-comedy by Charles Thomas of London. Also will be seen "A Little Morris," Walter Granville, Martin Hillier, Evangeline Irving, Ferdinand Gottschalk, and others. "The Paper Chase" will be repeated Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The play consists in a triple bill, consisting of "Sunset," "Wig and Gown" and "A Double Life." It will be presented "The Vega" band will be present. "Les Miserables" will be given the balance of the week.

The attraction at the Amphion throughout the week, with matines Wednesday and Saturday, will be "The Pantomime" in the form of comic opera by De Koven and Smith, authors of "Robin Hood." "The Fencing-Masters" will be acted and sung by Miss Marie Tupper, and the Comic Opera Company, which includes Hubert Wilke, Sig E. Michelona, William Broderick, Charles Hopper, Jerome Sylvester, Grace Clegg, and Mrs. Pemberton Hinckley. Miss Temple will appear at every performance.

The revival of "The Private Secretary" will interest the audience by the appearance of its author, William Gillette, in his original character of Rev. Robert Spaulding, will be the Easter week attraction at the Columbia Theatre. Mr. Gillette, a very droll, gay, sprightly, commercial meet, Mr. Hugh Ames, the commission merchant, Mr. C. B. Conant, the dry-plate man, Mr. T. H. Gray, the insurance man, Sept. Jansen, of Huber's, 14th St., Museum, and others.

From the Church we have cited such statements as those made by Mr. Keran, pastor of the Central Church; Mr. C. C. Smith, Vice-President of St. Francis' College; the Rev. Mr. Herzer, the Rev. H. D. Smith, the Universalist Divines, the Rev. H. B. Mathews, the Rev. L. Gold-

Mary Costello Shipped the Girl to America.

Cupid Deals Cruelly with Aged Mr. Rosberg.

Appointed in Brooklyn Under the New Probationary Law.

Now Nora Is to Be Sent Back by the Government.

His Wife at the Age of Fifty-three Runs Away with a Younger Man.

The Men Swap In at Headquarters—Fifty More to Be Named.

Gen. O'Brien, Acting Commissioner of Immigration at Ellis Island, will send back to Ireland an insane girl, who is claimed to have been sent here by an unscrupulous sister.

The girl's name is Nora Costello. She is twenty-three years old. She came on the steamer Britannia, and was sent to the home of her cousin, Tom Murphy, of 58 Vanderbilt avenue, Brooklyn. Murphy is well-to-do, and owns three or four houses. He received his good-looking cousin, but noticed that she acted rather strangely. He thought it was due to sickness on the voyage over, but when he met her again, and the other day he brought her over to this city to buy some things for her, hoping that shopping would settle her.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.

The story he told was that two years ago he was married to Anna Friesen, wife of a well-to-do man. The couple are said to have been most affectionate, and "spooned" so continually in public that the neighbors were highly interested.

The old gentleman was in the Lee Avenue Court this morning, and wept bitterly when told that nothing could be done for him. Then he went sadly back to his deserted home.